

Second semester begins Jan. 31

Pictured above are, left to right: Bobra Suiter, Dorothy Thompson, Wanda Bailey, Doris Smith, Dorothy Steele and Dorothy Devereux.

Registration for upperclassmen will be Thursday

Final examinations for students now attending the university and pre-registration for new students are scheduled for the week of Jan. 23.

High school students who will be graduated at the midyear and all transfer students will be required to complete various physical and guidance examinations Jan. 25, 26 and 27. Guidance and placement tests, which provide the advisor with information on the student's aptitudes, will be given Tuesday morning and afternoon, Jan. 25 and Wednesday morning, Jan. 26. Physical examinations are scheduled for the afternoon of Jan. 26 and all day Jan. 27.

Registration for new students will be all day Jan. 28, and for upperclassmen—from 8 a. m. to 5 p. m., Jan. 27. Second semester classes will begin Monday, Jan. 31.

Registration for the second semester of the evening school of adult education will be completed at a combined registration-assembly the evening of Jan. 27. Students will have an opportunity at this time of discussing classes with instructors who will be present. Night school classes will also begin the evening of Jan. 31.

Scout leaders here

Girl Scout counsellors and leaders held their annual meeting Sunday in the university clubroom. Two hundred and fifty women heard addresses by Mrs. Rich from St. Louis, regional chairman, and Mrs. Barkley from Fort Dodge, national board member.

Girl scouts presented the program.

Vote for bond queen when you buy stamps and bonds

The election of a bond queen, under the sponsorship of the Student Council, will highlight the fourth war loan drive at the University of Omaha. The drive will get under way with an all-school convocation Febr. 2.

The winner of the bond queen contest, to be known as "Miss Liberty Belle", will be elected by the purchase of war stamps and bonds. She will be presented at a second convocation Febr. 11. The purchase of one 25c stamp will give the purchaser one vote. A $25 bond gives the buyer 100 votes. Members of Feathers will assist council members in conducting the sale in the student lounge from 11:30 to 1:30 Febr. 2 to 9.

Bond queen candidates are Wanda Bailey, Phi Delta Psi; Doris Smith, Gamma Sigma Omicron; Bobra Suiter, Kappa Psi Delta; Dorothy Thompson, Sigma Chi Omicron; Dorothy Devereux, Pi Omega Pi; and Dorothy Steele, Independents.

Faculty and staff members will also participate in the drive, which has a goal of $7,500. Says E. M. Hosman, chairman of the faculty committee, "When the men and women from the university who are in the service come home again they will want to know what we did during the war. Certainly we shall want to tell them that their university went over the top in each of the war loan drives."

Assisting Mr. Hosman are Harry Rice, Miss Alice Smith, Dean J. W. Lucas, Robert Starring, Miss Josephine Rotella and Mildred Cunningham.

Student committee members are Marilyn Alley, Keith O'Keefe, and Mildred Cunningham, convocation;

Dorothy Mayhall and Don Swanson, publicity; and John Hornberger and Jacqueline Maag, voting.

Honors to Sullenger

Dr. T. Earl Sullenger, head of the department of sociology, recently received two honorary appointments.

He has received notice of his selection to serve as editor of the Quarterly, the official publication of the national honorary sociological fraternity, Alpha Kappa Delta. This appointment automatically makes Dr. Sullenger a member of the national executive committee.

The sociology professor has also been appointed as a member of the American Sociological society's membership committee.

The Omaha university is planning for the future

Just as the last two years have seen the shaping of new tools in war and industry, so will the post-war period demand new programs and techniques of education, says President Rowland Haynes of the University of Omaha in his annual report for the year ending Dec. 31. Looking upon the post-war years as an enlarged opportunity for the university to serve the community, President Haynes and his faculty are already at work laying the foundation for this future development.

Certainties

"Since there are many uncertainties in the future, our first step has been to see if there are any certainties emerging which may affect education at the university," he said. "Two facts are fairly certain. For a year or two after the war the student body is likely to be more varied in its requirements than ever before. More classes will be called for. More careful vocational counseling information will be needed. It is also certain that we should learn now from war experiments and training what educational practices to imitate or avoid. We should get this information today when we can see these experiments in operation rather than wait two years for their publication."

President Rowland Haynes

Four achievements

In his annual report the president pointed out that with the recent adoption of the retirement plan, the university has now completed the last of four main items in the program outlined eight years ago. These achievements include the accreditation of the university by the North Central Association and the Association of American Universities, the new building and campus, the adoption of a tenure system for the faculty and now the establishment of the retirement allowance plan.

President Haynes also called attention to the university's grand total enrollment of 3,880, the past year, which is an 8 per cent increase over the previous year and the largest in the history of the institution. This, he said, is due to increases in the school of adult education and in the E. S. M. W. T. war-training division.

In spite of war conditions, he said the university was able to live within its budget last year and by operating economies even added to its reserves. "The post-war developments planned by the university will take money", the university head stated "We are fortunate that we have been able to strengthen our position to make these improvements possible."

Downtown office open

New opening dates for the University of Omaha's downtown office at 308 Patterson building were announced this week as follows:

Monday through Friday the office will be open from 11 a. m. to 2 p. m. and from 3 to 5:30 p. m.

Information on courses in both the day and evening school may be obtained.

College, --- why?

A university is considered by some as primarily a place to acquire skills that will be advantageous in the economic struggle for existence. A local radio broadcast puts in a good word for a college education (while incidentally advertising life insurance) by showing that average earnings of college graduates are greater than those of non-graduates. Without denying this, may I suggest that it places too mean a value on a university education? It would not be difficult to devise a program, outside of a university, which could be directed to sharpening the commercial wits of the individual to such a point that he would surpass his brother who attended a university.

I like to think of a university as a city of refuge, an institution whose chief objective is the continuance of the humane and liberal tradition, a laboratory where experiments are conducted, where ideas in regard to social and political change, some of which are distasteful to a majority of the community, are freely discussed and dissected. Hence, I believe that the prime task of a university is not to impart knowledge, but rather to afford the student a solid basis for later intellectual and cultural growth.

There are, of course, certain fundamental facts such as the multiplication table that must be mastered and accepted; but the area of this type of knowledge is rather limited. One distinction between the physical scientist and the social scientist is that the former discovers phenomena, then accepts them, while the latter, instead of accepting what he finds, deals honestly and fearlessly with what ought to be. Any education that neglects the humanities and the liberal arts falls far short of what is sufficient as an education for members of a free society, because it ignores the basic problem of dealing with man as a member of society. — Garner Anthony, in Commencement Address at the University of Hawaii.

Fluff and Stuff

LISTEN my children and you shall hear

The story of a Happy New Year. The Indians had a lot of fun Laughing, dancing, and playing gin rummy.

Okay, okay, so I'm not a poet Don't tell me, boys—I know it.

ENGAGEMENTS ran galore since ye olde column went to press. Among those planning to take the final leap are Stevie and Smittie, Jean and Walt, Gertie and Kriss.

AND another thing we gotta inform you about is Xmas and New Year's even if it is too late and all that rot. Let's see what happened Christmas? Anyway, here's New Year's date: most of the gals ganged up and saw the New Year in quietly(?) like at Kirkbride's, ha ha ha. Some of the lucky ones with dates were: Susie and Bill, Walt and Jean, Eddie and Bob Hall, Stevie and Smittie, Robinson and Donna, Dottie and Georgia, and so help us that's all.

POOR Miriam, she didn't use Irium. YOU there, Burford, who actually was your date at Dottie's Hangover party—was it Dottie or Eddie. Hazen played his part as chaperon very convincingly. Phyl's camera caused quite a sensation, but the lil gal made out o.k. with Gene Marsh.

ENOUGH ob ud hab coods id oura nodes during bacation to made it berry udcomfodable fo all. Thia id how we talked, cad you read id?

ANXIOUSLY awaiting the train from Mt. Vernon was our own Katie. That man, Jerry, was in Omaha one hour and twenty minutes and was she ever in the clouds.

RIGHT you are. Well, it fits in here, doesn't it? The Phi Deltas carried away all honors in the volleyball tournament by not losing a game. No doubt about it, they were really cooking. The boobie prize goes to the Pi Os with the Sig Chis close behind. Friday nite the two basement squads played a game just to prove who was the worst.

ISNT it too bad about Cowger's Artie? Thirty seconds silence for her benefit. If anyone wants an English setter pup, get in touch with Va. Baumer as she has two she wants to give away. SEEMS as though some new deals have developed such as Benson and Wodsworth and Larson and Amazon.

HERE it is almost the end of the semester and what happened that we never got around to studying.

EXAMS are gaining upon the Uni hour by hour, minute by minute, second by second, (loud wild hysterical screams are heard thru the halls).

REALLY in there are Betty Wilbourne and Zennette Milne with their wild scheme of how to win a v.b. game. Here is what one does: (1) Before you serve, dip the ball in the bucket of brandy which sits behind the service line, then (2) you take the matches out of your hip pocket and ignite the ball. As it sails through the air the other team can't touch it. See? Of course, this system uses quite a few balls.

ENOUGH of this idle chatter. Good luck on the dreaded things coming up.

THE WAR AND YOU

Letters from the boys

Ron Miles, stationed at Beaumont General hospital, El Paso, Tex., writes: "I received the Gateways from you and certainly did enjoy them. It sounded swell to read something from Omaha. The army is sending me to school here as a dental technician. I have never thought of being a dentist, but I guess that is what the army has planned for me."

The hospital is a mile from the Mexican border, and Camp Beaumont men are allowed to go over any night of the week, he says. "The town is Juarez and is really quaint — strictly Mexican. You know, bull fights and all that sort of stuff."

Former coach Sed Hartman, now a physical training instructor at the naval air station at Ottumwa, Iowa, writes his thanks for the copies of the Gateway he has received.

"I read them from cover to cover and am particularly interested in the news concerning former University of Omaha men in the service. I am mighty proud of them all," he writes.

According to Hartman, Ensign Julius Bachman has just received a letter of commendation from Admiral Halsey for two battles in which he participated and made torpedo attacks. Bachman is a torpedo officer on a destroyer.

Lt. (j.g.) William Morris was home on leave last week from Long Beach, Cal., where he has been interning at the navy hospital.

Transfers

W. O. Horace Gassaway is now at infantry school at Fort Benning, Ga.

Jack N. Carlson has completed basic training at submarine school, New London, Conn.

Koenig

A/C Bernard Koenig has been transferred to the army bombardier school at Carlsbad, N. M.

S 2/ Homer Starr has been sent from Camp Peary, Va. to Gulfport, Miss. for advanced training with the Seabees.

Lt. Walt Vachal has gone from cavalry school at Fort Riley, Kan., where he was an instructor, to North Camp Polk, La. He has just returned to Polk after a 10-day leave and will go out on maneuvers in that area.

Girls in service

Shirley Buchanan and Phyllis Iverson, who went into the SPARS in November, are now stationed at Palm Beach, Fla. They are quartered in the Palm Beach Biltmore hotel on the edge of Lake Worth.

Cpl. Rosemary Larsen Clark has completed radio training in the WAC and is now stationed in Petaluma, Cal.

Stationed overseas

Lt. Gene Telpner has taken part as a bombardier in all the recent air battles over Germany and France with the eighth air force. His plane recently crashed on a return trip from Berlin, but the entire crew was saved.

Pfc. Clinton Sergeant and Pfc. Charles Snyder, with the army band in England, recently saw Miss Ruth Diamond, former women's physical education director at the university. While playing in a concert at a canteen at Exeter, England, the two former students had a visit with the Red Cross recreational leader.

Offer reading course

An advanced class in reading improvement will be offered next semester, according to Miss Wood, reading clinic instructor.

"Because of the interest expressed in advanced reading training, we are going to form one or two classes so that students can continue their work," she said. Students interested in the advanced course should apply immediately in room 261.

Jive Jottings

FOLEY-FORBES

CLIMBING THE POPULARITY POLL

A board of very partial and entirely prejudiced popular music lovers met the other day to decide their favorites in the music world during 1943. Through mediation, we are able to submit the following findings which should reflect the true bests of '43.

Best swing — BENNY GOODMAN.

Best sweet — CHARLIE SPIVAK.

Best all around — TOMMY DORSEY.

Best male vocalist — FRANK SINATRA.

Best female vocalist — DINAH SHORE.

Best songs of the year — YOU'LL NEVER KNOW, PAPER DOLL, PEOPLE WILL SAY WE'RE IN LOVE.

Best records of the year — Swing — WELL, GET IT — Tommy Dorsey.

Sweet — BLACK MAGIC — Glenn Miller.

For safety's sake, the board members prefer to remain unknown 'til the whole thing cools down.

HIGHER & HIGHER

Many saw Sinatra's new pic — many rave about it — some don't. Everyone had to admit he sang very well, his phrasing, enunciation and tone were slightly terrific. The tunes — "I Couldn't Sleep a Wink Last Night", "This Is a Lovely Way to Spend an Evening" and "The Music Stopped" are coming favorites on everybody's hit parade.

The new technicolossal film, "As Thousands Cheer", features Iturbi whacking out 32 whole bars of boogie. Wonder if that gleam in his eye is real enjoyment of the "beat" or is he dreaming of the overloaded check he receives for playing it?

RECORD SITUATION

Sad as it may seem, Victor Records has only two new releases available — Duke Ellington's "Do Nothin' Til You Hear From Me" and Perry Como's "Have I Stayed Away Too Long" and "I've Had This Feelin' Before." This column highly recommends both of these discs. And what's more, they're available!

New officers installed

Installation of second semester officers in Feathers was held the evening of Jan. 19 at the university.

Jacqueline Maag was installed as president with Bobra Suiter serving as secretary. Annette Klein, retiring president, was installing officer.

THE GATEWAY

Published for the University of Omaha by its department of Journalism. Member of the Associated Collegiate Press and the North Central Press Association. Distributor of "Collegiate Digest."

Member

Associated Collegiate Press

Distributor of

Collegiate Digest

Phone GL 4700, Extension 141

Subscription rate ..... $1.00 per year
Advertising rate ..... $ .75 per inch
Classified ad rate ..... $ .10 per line

BUSINESS STAFF

Jean Pratt, Business and circulation manager.

EDITORIAL STAFF

Dorothy Cowger, Edna Jones, Jeanne Le Noir, Barbara Muir, Keith O'Brien, Richard Orr and Joseph Sklenar.

Indians to meet Iowa Seahawks in charity game

"We won't concede a thing until the final gun", says Coach Stu Baller of the coming basketball game with the top-notch Iowa Seahawks. The Indians go out of their class to meet the navy team Saturday night on the Creighton floor.

The game will be for the benefit of the children's hospital.

Playing against seasoned men, the Omahans will have to hustle all the time, warns Baller, who is confident that the game will be one of the fastest this year. The Seahawk team numbers 14, with three of the group outstanding stars. All are officers. Lt. Bob Timmons was a regular fullback on the Seahawk football team and comes from Pittsburgh. Center is 6 ft. 4 in. (j.g.) Alton Elliot from Syracuse. Ensign George Wentworth is a two-year letterman from Notre Dame. Other players include Ivan Hoolen from Oakland City, Ind. and Lt. (j.g.) Thomas Craig from South Carolina.

The Seahawk game will serve as a reunion for Hickey, whose club won its only game over Burlington YMCA recently.

The game will begin on the Creighton boards at 8 tomorrow night. Admission is $1.10 and proceeds go to the hospital fund.

About "The Professor"

It is, indeed, regrettable that among so many sound and fair statements recently made about the Spanish language by recognized scholars and responsible national authorities, The Gateway should choose to quote, in the issue Jan. 10, the disparaging and biased remarks by an obscure professor of German in the small college of Westminster, Pa.

Far be it from me to minimize the merits and importance of any language, even those known very little in the western world, such as Chinese and Japanese. Languages are the plastic and most priceless expression of the life and civilization of a people, and as such all of them deserve nothing but the utmost consideration and respect. Mr. Biberich, the German professor quoted by The Gateway, seems to be possessed of an utter lack of such respect.

Says Mr. Biberich: "Spanish, however, may die out after a number of years, because its popularity seems to rest solely on the fact that it is still spoken in many places where the Spanish settled and could become a tie to unite us closer with the people who speak this language. But Spanish now lacks the "backbone" that French and German have to keep it alive."

What the German professor exactly means by the word "backbone", I don't know. It is as foggy to me as the thick fog on the Rhine. But I surmise that he means "culture," which he attributes to the French, and also "importance in science and language", which, as he says, "stays alive" in German literature.

And so Mr. Biberich has decided that the Spanish language has no culture. Just like that! Has he ever heard of such a thing as Spanish Golden Age, which gave to the world the picaresque novel, origin of the modern realistic novel, and a long series of superb dramatic monuments, whose best admirers have always been the German literary critics? It would be useless to mention to him the cultural bloom in the modern literature of Latin America, as it is to be seen

Phi Delta Phi wins intramural volleyball tournament

Members of the winning Phi Delt team are, left to right: Wanda Bailey, Norma Nelsen, Mary Ellen Cabbage, Janice Rodman, Jacky Maag, Jessie Rodman, Ruth Bruhn, Barbara Muir, Bernardine Bailey and Marjorie Hosier.

The Phi Delt volleyball team won the WAA tournament with five wins and no losses. Gammas were second with four wins and one loss.

In the playoffs, Gammas fell to the Phi Deltas 35-23, Sig Chis lost 35-24, Pi Os 53-6, and the Independents and the Kappas forfeited their games.

Players on the winning team are Mary Ellen Cabbage, Norma Nelson, Jessie and Janice Rodman, Barbara Muir, Ruth Bruhn, Bernardine and Wanda Bailey, Margery Hosier, Charlotte Phillips, Jackie Maag, and Maxine Paulsen.

in the novel of the Mexican revolution, and in the novel of tropical realism, in which nature, genuine American nature, emerges for the first time as a gigantic protagonist which overpowers man.

Or, perhaps, the German professor uses the word "backbone" in the sense of "importance in science." Has he ever heard of Juan de La Cierva and Santiago Romony Cajal, to mention only two of the contemporary Spanish scientists? I also refer him to the twelve imposing volumes recording the papers presented to the Eighth Pan American Scientific Congress held in Washington in 1940, edited by Alexander Wetmore of the Smithsonian Institution and published by the department of state, of which a large share were written by Spanish American scientists.

DR. C. S. ESPINOSA.

College Chatter

When Doris Smith opened her locker the other day, she almost fell on her face—allergic to spices, probably.

Spectators at the Sig Chi-Gamma volleyball game thought that the ball was going to get the best of Dottie Thompson for awhile. However, she and Dottie Cowger got together, and the three of them had a gay time. And speaking of volleyball, did you see who won the WAA tournament? Yea, Phi Deltas!

Pan Crozier must have been a discuss thrower in high school, judging from the way she throws that volleyball around in the gym.

The Indian - Seahawk benefit game at Creighton tomorrow night should attract a big crowd. Although the Indians are considered to be out of their class, their record against Brigham Young and Denver shows that Iowa hasn't won yet.

Any girl who likes to bowl should enter the WAA tournament which will start next semester. Even inexperienced bowlers are urged to come out. Contact Jean Shapland for more information.

The actives are really cracking down on the pledges, just because informal initiation is near and that can be held over the defenseless pledges' heads.

Petitions are such intriguing things. Wonder if they're powerful?

Swing it out with the O U hillbillies, Febr. 3

Put on your old gray bonnet, with the blue ribbons on it, For we're giving a hillbilly shindig—

Tuck away your blues, don your dancing shoes, And swing your gal to a riga-jigjig!

Are you going to the Hillbilly Shindig to be held at Hickville Corners (the auditorium) Feb. 3? The intersorority council and women's athletic association are sponsoring this party for the new freshmen. Doris Smith, general chairman, hints that there will be a real hillbilly band and plenty of good entertainment between dances. The time will be announced later.

Several new courses in SAE next semester

New courses offered in the school of adult education during the second semester, beginning Jan. 31, include classes in stationary engineering, urban horticulture, Russian literature and the country weekly.

The stationary engineering class, taught by Jack Adwers, chief engineer at the university, is a continuation of the third grade engineering course offered previously. Instruction will prepare students for a first grade engineer's license.

Urban horticulture, taught by Dr. Fred W. Hofmann, will deal with caring for plants and planning gardens in the city. Dr. Hofmann, who received his doctor of philosophy degree from the University of Illinois, is the originator of the fuzzless peach.

Dr. A. Dayle Wallace of the English department will teach a new class in Russian literature in translation. The course will include the early folk legends and religious writings, the infiltration of western thought, and emphasize the chief Soviet writers of today.

The country weekly, a course in managing and editing country newspapers, will be taught by Robert L. Mossholder, head of the journalism department.

New teachers in the evening school will be Dr. Hofmann, Miss Jane Dressler, who will teach dramatics and voice improvement; Charles Docherty, practical salesmanship; and Alex McDonough, burglary and glass insurance.

Midland, So. Dakota teams are easy prey

South Dakota won a surprise 50-32 victory in Friday night's game.

Peru, the first second semester game Febr. 15, promises to be something of a thriller with the Peruvians seeking a comeback from the 45-31 trouncing the Indians gave them in December. Omaha will be on the road for this game.

The next home game will be the tiff with Eddie Hickey's Seahawk officers Saturday night, with the Creighton boards feeling the impact.

A fast start netted victory for the Indians over Midland Jan. 11. At the half time, Omaha was in front 27-18. Karabatsos accounted for 18 points and tall Bob Schleiger for 12. Final score, 53-32.

Sharpe and Kinnick kept things going in the final stretch to sweep the Indians over the South Dakota Coyotes 38-36. Three regulars fouled out in the Jan. 14 game that was even all the way.

The Dana game, scheduled for Jan. 26, has been postponed to free the exam week of too many games, and too, because of the lack of gasoline to make the trip.

K.U. radio team to talk at Town - Gown Club

A radio team, consisting of three faculty members from the University of Kansas, will present a panel discussion of "Gargantua" by Rabelais at the Town and Gown club meeting Jan. 25 at the University of Omaha.

Dr. J. W. Ashton and Prof. J. B. Virtue, both of the English department, and Prof. L. R. Lind of the classical language department, are the team members who will discuss why the book has lived and what it has to offer today.

Addresses Kiwanians

Dr. William K. Noyce of the chemistry department, will give an illustrated talk on "Astronomy in Review" this noon at the meeting of the Council Bluffs Kiwanis club at Hotel Chieftain.

Dr. Noyce, who joined the Omaha university faculty in 1937, received his masters and his doctor of philosophy degree from the University of Nebraska. He is a member of the Nebraska Academy of Sciences, Sigma Xi, American Chemical Society and the American Association for the Advancement of Science.

Foreign policy group organized

Roderic B. Crane of the department of economics has been appointed vice chairman of the new Omaha branch of the Foreign Policy association, it was announced recently by Arthur A. Lowman, chairman. Similar branches are being organized now in Kansas City and St. Louis. Casper Y. Offutt has been appointed treasurer of the local group.

The association was started in 1918 at the close of the first world war. Its objective, according to the constitution adopted by the founders of the organization, is "to carry on research and educational activities and to aid in the understanding and constructive development of American foreign policy."

The association is celebrating its 25th anniversary this year. The Omaha branch was officially organized last month.

Crane said that faculty and students interested in becoming members of the group may make application with Sam Rees, membership chairman. University people will receive a discount on their dues in the association. Membership entitles the individual to the news bulletin, the Washington letter, various booklets published during the year by the association and two discounts on lectures planned by the local branch.

The national association is headed this year by Maj. Frank McCoy, formerly commanding officer of the seventh service command.

Victorians too showy, says Dr. B. N. Schilling

When the middle-class Victorian attempted to decorate anything, from himself to his house, he did it badly, Dr. Bernard N. Schilling, head of humanities at Grinnell college, pointed out to members of the University of Omaha's Town and Gown club, Jan. 13.

Speaking on the subject "Victorian Decoration and the Gospel of Labor," Dr. Schilling said that the prospering Englishman of the 19th century failed utterly to perceive the virtues of function and simplicity and conceived a false idea of what was attractive which led him to emphasize ornament and costliness at the expense of usefulness and simple comfort.

"The principle, for example, that furniture should proclaim its real purpose was ignored," the speaker declared, "and everything in the house seemed to be playing a game of pretending."

Home economics tea

The home economics tea Friday afternoon from 3 to 5 in the club-room featured a brief talk by Mrs. Elizabeth Church, head of the department, on courses to be offered next semester. A girl from each class modeled one garment that was representative of the projects carried out in each course.

A string trio, composed of Virginia Heidkamp, Dorothy Lastric and Roberta Gross, played and Mrs. Marie Samardick sang. Seventy-five girls attended.

In charge of the event were Lucille Roseky, invitations; Ruth Bruhn, Helen Premier, Phyllis Folda and Pearl Musil, food; Pat James, Rosella Thomas and Marcella Gladowski, serving; Patty Ipsen and Betty Drapalick, arrangements; and Jane Griffith, Adele Pangle and Margaret Peterson, entertainment.

Jane Dressler added to evening school faculty

Miss Jane Dressler, a graduate of the well-known Maria Ouspenskaya School of Dramatics in Hollywood, Cal., and recently an assistant on the staff there, has been added to the faculty of the University of Omaha School of Adult Education for the second semester, it was announced Saturday by E. M. Hosman, director.

Miss Dressler will offer a new course in oral interpretation and expression, a class designed to teach students control of the voice, clear diction, knowledge of words and the analysis of selection from world literature.

Miss Dressler, in association with Robert Starring of the university speech department, will also offer an individual speech instruction course the second semester for students who need help in overcoming their difficulties in speech and voice control. Students will receive instruction in private conferences.

The oral interpretation course offers three hours credit and will be given Tuesday evenings beginning Feb. 1. The correction class meetings will be arranged through the evening school.

Tool and die class to organize soon

Sixty men who have completed the University of Omaha's 20-week course in tool and die engineering will have a dinner meeting at the university the evening of Feb. 3 to organize at that time an alumni association for the class.

Officers, committee members, and a tentative program for the year will be announced at the dinner. Raymond A. Dull, tool and die engineer at Paxton Mitchell, has been instructor of the class since it started.

VAN SANT SCHOOL OF BUSINESS

In Its Fifty-third Year
EVENING — DAY

207 So. 18th - OMAHA 2 - JA 5890

Hold leap year party

A leap year party for school of adult education students was held at the Blackstone hotel Saturday evening. Students brought guests and University of Nebraska and Creighton university medical school students and marines stationed in Omaha were invited.

Harold Hamilton was master of ceremonies. Kathryn Graham sang "One Kiss" and "My Heart Tells Me." Dorothy Rice led an opening mixer for the dancing. Program committee chairman was Carolyn Goddard, with Margaret Harrison in charge of arrangements assisted by Elaine Holman and Mary Galligan.

Patrons and Patronesses were Dr. Hugh Tudor, Mr. and Mrs. Paul Stageman, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Starring and Mr. and Mrs. E. M. Hosman.

Refreshments were served.

Businessmen are guests at dinner

Another step in the university's post-war development program was announced this week by President Rowland Haynes.

Last Wednesday the university was host to a group of businessmen at a second post-war planning dinner. Similar meetings will follow.

"These conferences," Mr. Haynes pointed out, "are supplemental to the studies already being made by faculty and administrative officers at the university. The two most frequent questions discussed at the dinners are: What post-war conditions, unlike pre-war conditions, are likely to affect education at the University of Omaha in the following five years? and what effect will these new developments have on the educational program at the university?

World post-war planning will be capably taken care of by Roosevelt, Churchill and Stalin, said President Haynes. Our interest here, however, is in the changes which we shall need to make at the university so that the institution may continue to serve effectively the people of this community.

ORPHEUM

On The Stage
NOW THRU THURS.

In Person!

Al Dexter, composer of the phenomenal hit tune, "Pistol Packin' Mama", now at the Orpheum theatre in person, with his Texas Troopers and Western Revue.

- screen -
"FOOTLIGHT GLAMOUR"
Blondie and The Bumsteads

Have a "Coke" = Come, be blessed and be happy

... from Idaho to Iceland

Have a "Coke", says the American soldier in Iceland, and in three words he has made a friend. It works in Reykjavic as it does in Rochester. Be sure you have Coca-Cola in your icebox at home. 'Round the globe, Coca-Cola stands for the pause that refreshes — has become the ice-breaker between kindly-minded strangers.

BOTTLED UNDER AUTHORITY OF THE COCA-COLA COMPANY BY OMAHA COCA-COLA BOTTLING COMPANY

"Coke" = Coca-Cola
It's natural for popular names to acquire friendly abbreviations. That's why you hear Coca-Cola called "Coke"